INTRODUCTION

"Leading systems integrator with a growing team of over 35 office staff and technicians"

Konextions was formed in 2003 by the current Managing Director, Ian Myles. After several years providing different services to property and construction clients, it became clear that there were many different people involved in a project when there was no need. Having witnessed the difficulties that arose from multiple contractors working on a project, Konextions was born to provide all the Audio Visual, Electrical and infrastructure services under one umbrella. By bringing all the services together it made the process much simpler, and removed many of the problems and difficulties of multi contractor projects. Since its establishment in 2003 Konextions has gained many accreditations, and works with the industries leading manufacturers. By remaining vendor neutral, Konextions can offer the best solution for you, and not try to make something fit that may not be right for you. Konextions are proud members of NIC/EIC, CEDIA, and ECA. As well as achieving the Control4 Diamond Dealer status, we work with leading manufacturers including KNX, Crestron and Lutron.

The company has a growing team, with over 35 employees across administrative and technical departments.

WHAT WE DO

"We offer a full service from consultation and design of systems for all projects."

Konextions offer a full range of services across both Audio Visual and Electrical services. From initial consultation, design, installation, through to after sales support. Working with end clients, interior designers, architects and building contractors, to offer a full end to end service for their particular project. Each project is completely different, and by being brand neutral we can provide the right products according to design, function and budget.

The services provided by Konextions includes:

- Design and consultation services
- Wired and wireless network infrastructure
- Multi Zone audio
- TV and Media distribution
- Home cinema / Media room
- Lighting control
- Whole home automation
- Environmental control (HVAC)
- Security and CCTV
- Gate / Door entry
- Full electrical services

By offering the full range of services, we can ensure compatibility of the different aspects of your project. Making integration seamless and the system streamlined and simple to use.

LIGHTING

Intelligent Lighting System

Lighting is a key and often overlooked part of any home. Good lighting design, stylish fittings, and smooth operation can really transform your project.

Intelligent lighting can allow you to control the mood within the room, changing the lighting to predefined levels depending on its use, at the touch of a button.

A single press can dim the main pendant, turn off the downlights, and turn on the wall lights to a predefined level. You can also integrate your audio visual equipment through your automation system so that the same press could switch on the TV or start your audio. The possibilities are endless. With security in mind, it is also possible to control the lighting from your mobile device. So if you forget to turn off the lights, no problem. If you arrive home late, you can turn on the lights prior to your arrival. They can also be set to turn on and off automatically, giving the impression there is someone home.

With the options now available for intelligent, controllable lighting, it is important to ensure that the right system is chosen for your project. Konexions can help you with all aspects of lighting within your property, through lighting design to fittings and control.

AUDIO & VISUAL

Audio at your finger tips

Whether it is background music in your kitchen, or audiophile quality sound, Konextions can help.

Distribute your audio throughout your home. Have the same music playing in every room as you entertain, each with its own volume level. Then the next day everyone can play their own music in different rooms, perfect for the family or when you have visitors. The flexibility of a multi-zone audio system allows complete flexibility of what you listen to and where.

Dedicated music servers can hold thousands of tracks, listen to the inbuilt internet radio with a huge variety of stations, or stream through services such as Spotify or Napster straight from your mobile.

Distribute your TV and media sources throughout your property, all from a central location. Using your network infrastructure to distribute up to 4k TV around the home.

No longer do you need a Sky box, Apple TV, media player or DVD at each TV location.

By centralising all your equipment it helps to keep rooms clear of boxes and cables that can become unsightly. Control everything from a single remote, or touchscreen device.

CINEMA

A good reason to stay in

Why go out, when you can experience the full magic of the cinema in your own home surrounded by your family and friends.

With stunning high-resolution images and Dolby surround sound, for that fully immersive experience.

With everything that there is to consider for your dedicated cinema room, it is important to get it right first time.

The seating, acoustic treatments, projector and cinema screen. With a wide range of audio solutions suited for all budgets.

Every cinema is different, so why not let Konextions help you achieve that amazing experience?

SMART HOME AUTOMATION

Integrate your home as one

With the diverse range of technology available for today's homes, it can often be confusing. Wall mounted panels, sensors, displays, and remotes for each device. They all look different, and all operate via their own control. This makes for a poor user experience, and can often lead to the technology not being used.

By bringing all these systems and devices together, it makes the use of technology so much easier.

A single touchscreen device or remote to control all the technology within your home. Including the audio, TV, lighting, heating or blinds. Decluttering the home, making technology as much a part of it as the fixtures and fittings.

Technology should be simple, natural to use. If it becomes too complicated or confusing then it becomes unused. There are a number of different options when it comes to automating your home, Konextions can help you decide which option would work best for you.

TELECOMS & DATA

The network infrastructure forms the backbone of any smart home, so it is essential to get this designed correctly right from the start. Not just looking at any immediate requirements but looking towards future uses and advancements in technology.

Konextions will work with you to look at your requirement, both now and future usage. Once we have a thorough understanding of what you are looking to achieve, we can build the ideal network for you. Taking into account any TV distribution, control, data requirements, and connectivity for any audio streaming.

Our design teams will look at all aspects of the system to ensure it can handle the requirements of your installation, and produce a cabling drawing to ensure that nothing is overlooked and positioned where you need it.

Networks are designed and installed by us using the highest grade cables which ensures the cables can be used for multiple devices needing structured cabling. The cables are tested throughout to ensure they deliver to the highest standards. We choose network switches that will allow a high speed, low maintenance network.

SECURITY

CCTV

An intelligent CCTV system can be integrated into your home solution, and accessed through screens within your property or on mobile devices when you are out or away. Giving you full visibility of what is happening in real time.

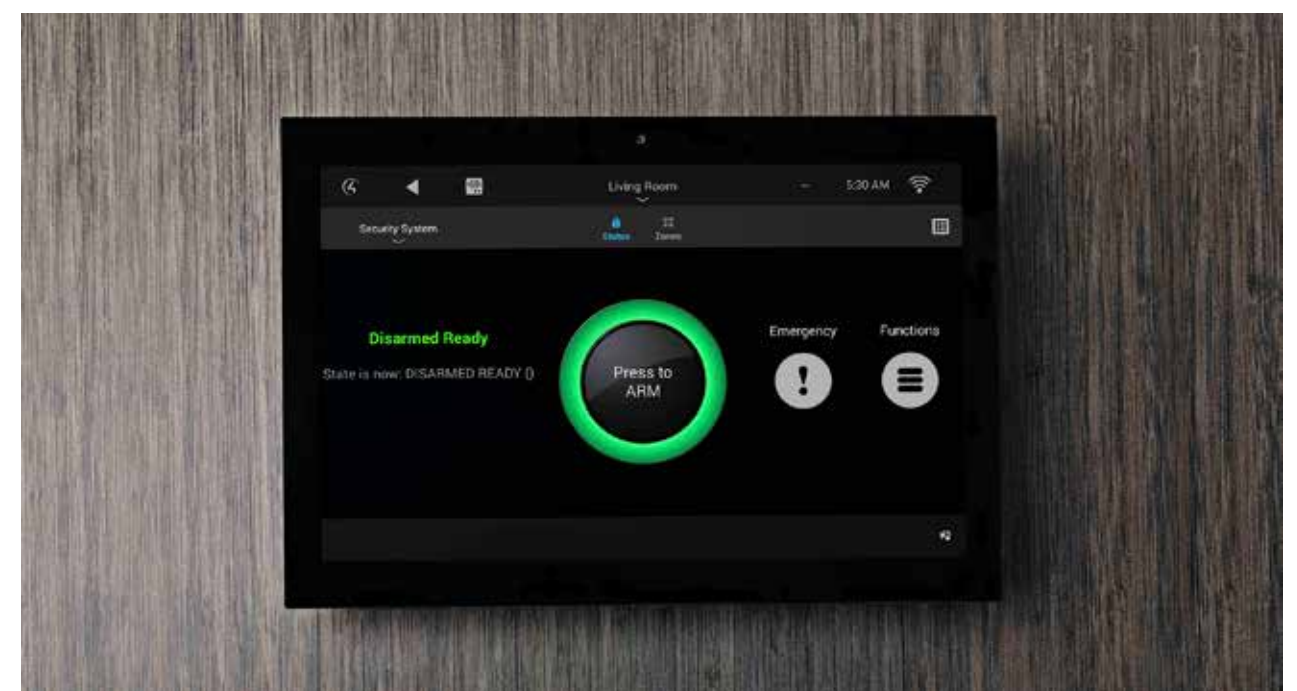

Gate Entry

A gate entry system can be a welcome addition to prevent unwanted access to your property.

Konextions can advise on the most suitable systems for your property, depending on your requirements.

The safety and security of those closest to us is of paramount importance, so being able to integrate this as part of your smart home can offer peace of mind. The system can send you alerts for a range of predefined trigger actions, making you aware of any potential intruders or suspicious activity around your property.

Systems can be operated through keypad, proximity detection, remotes, or through number plate recognition when used in conjunction with a suitable CCTV system.

ELECTRICAL

Electrical design & installation

Konextions has its own team of inhouse electricians, ensuring that the our work always meets the highest standards. Offering a full range of electrical services, for all types of residential or commercial projects. From new build developments, bespoke residential, office fit outs, refurbishments and multi dwelling properties, we have experience with all property types large and small.

Our design approach focusses on understanding the exact requirement for your electrical installation. Ensuring that any design will meet with current regulations. It is essential that the design takes in all requirements including small power, lighting, AC, ventilation, and any HVAC system.

HVAC

Most of the energy used in today's home goes into heating the space. By properly managing the consumption of energy, this can be dramatically reduced by up to 30%

By installing an intelligent system into your home, you can control the heating, cooling and hot water at the touch of a button.

Konextions can help you design and implement these through a simple to use interface, linked to your home automation system.

OUR DEMO ROOM

We have a state of the art demonstration room. The room was designed to show concepts of integration, lighting control, heating control, a media room environment and a full Dolby Atmos cinema system.

The room allows you to experience the different concepts in a relaxed atmosphere, to allow you to discuss your project and how the technology can work for you

THE WONDER OF WYECCLIFFE

On the corner of Queens and York Roads in the town of Weybridge stands a midnight blue art studio called the Wyeclyffe Galleries. Passing within, you discover that it's actually a series of interlocking gallery spaces, each with its own unique ambiance.

What makes this place so special is the lighting—and what makes the lighting so special is Control4. When Wyeclyffe owner Benjamin Fry renovated this warehouse, he wanted to do something special: create a lighting system that could illuminate the artwork with light of varying color temperatures: warm indoor light, cool outdoor light, or any combination of the two. To design and install that system, Fry turned to Ian Myles of Konexions.

Fry says, "The way Control4 enables us to utilize that space has been excellent. You see, the Studio isn't always open. But sometimes we get a client in the main gallery who says, 'I need some oversized pieces for a new property. Do you have anything on that scale?' 'Those kinds of larger paintings are showcased in the Studio. And that's where Control4 comes in. While I socialize with the client on the long walk back to the space, I can pull out my iPhone, and with the push of a button, the Studio comes to life. We have an "entry" scene already programmed in Control4, so the Sonos starts playing music, the lights on the paintings activate in a perfectly balanced tableau, and the heaters have warmed the place up by the time we walk through the door. " Control4 for the win!

The Studio at Wyeclyffe has become Weybridge's premier gallery space, thanks to its cutting-edge lighting system and Control4 automation.
